

Basalte introduces its own design sockets

New product range perfectly matches Basalte design switches

Basalte introduces its own design sockets. This unique collection comes in the same form and finishes as the Basalte design switches: the perfect combination for any interior design!

The new socket range by Basalte is characterized by the same minimalist look and quality finishes as the Basalte design switches, including aluminium, bronze and brass. The inserts can be white or black.

There are different configurations with 1-2-3 gang versions that host type E/F sockets, as well as USB and RJ45 connections.
