

Basalte wins German Design Award 2017

Professional jury honours minimalist design of Eve table base for iPad

Merelbeke, October 2016 – The German Design Council announced the winners of the German Design Award 2017. Basalte's Eve Table Base for iPad was nominated to participate in this prestigious competition and won the label "Special mention".

The German Design award is the premium prize of the German Design Council. It presents and awards the most unique design trends which are ground-breaking in the international design landscape. The professional jury especially admired "the elegant combination of a minimalist design in a high-quality aluminium material", setting a new standard for iPad mounts internationally.

Eve table base

Belgian company Basalte develops design products for the smart home. The Eve table base supports the iPad on a table or countertop, while keeping it continuously charged with additional security options. It can be used in both residential and public applications and serves as a perfect solution for hotels or restaurants at the reception desk or as a publicity screen. This table stand can of course also be very handy as an extra screen in your kitchen, home theatre or living room.

The table base is machined out of high-grade aluminium and is available in two finishes, each optimised for either a portrait or landscape orientation of the iPad. The table base is available for iPad mini, iPad Air and iPad Pro 9.7".
