

Spotify Connect now available in Asano multiroom audio system

Today, Basalte announces its collaboration with Spotify to natively integrate Spotify Connect in the Asano S4 music server. Now, you have built-in access to millions of Spotify songs all around the house, directly played through Asano.

The Asano multiroom audio system amplifies and distributes uncompressed hi-fi music in homes worldwide. From now on, Spotify Connect is an integrated service in the S4 music server, the core of the Asano system. With this feature, Spotify Premium subscribers can listen to millions of songs on their Asano audio system: any song you like, anywhere you want.

The setup is simple. Just connect your S4 music server and mobile device with the Spotify app to the same Wi-Fi network. Once logged into Spotify, you then choose Asano as a compatible device to play your favourite songs and playlists in the system. Now everything can be controlled easily through your Asano Music app or KNX home automation.

This update completes Asano's music services, also including internet radio and other streaming services. The Asano Music app is available for iOS and Android.
